Lincolnite's Body Found

Empty Pill Bottle Laying Nearby In New Mexico Gully

Lincoln Star Special
SANTA FE, N. M.—The discovery of the body of Mrs. Elizabeth Roberts, a prominent Lincoln, Neb. woman, in a 20-foot gully 3/4 mile north of here Friday ended a five-day search for the missing 64-year-old woman.

The body, first spotted from the air by her son, Charles A. Roberts of Lincoln, was found a short time later by a hastily organized search party of Santa Fe police and sheriff officers.

A small empty green prescription bottle, labeled, "Take one before bedtime," lay a short distance from her remains.

Her wrists had several small slashes, but Police Chief A. B. Martinez added that bleeding from the cuts didn't appear to be enough to cause death. A razor blade also was discovered near the body.

Dr. Harry D. Ellis, pathologist at St. Vincent's Hospital in Santa Fe, performed the autopsy Friday. He refused to comment on his findings. His report will be given at the inquest which is scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday, the doctor said.

Tom Gonzales, special investigator for the District Attorney's office, however, told The Star late Friday night that the bottle contained 1 1/2-grain capsules of secobarbital.

"There's no indication of foul play," Gonzales said.

The son, who flew to Santa Fe Thursday to aid in the search, and a local pilot scoured the area north of Santa Fe after the weather cleared Friday afternoon.

She was the wife of retired Lincoln road contractor Charles W. Roberts.

The body, clad in the clothes and rust colored coat Mrs. Roberts was wearing when she disappeared Monday, was found lying face up.

'Cross Of Martyrs'
A state policeman came upon the body, face upturned, a short distance from the "Cross of Martyrs," a famed Santa Fe landmark commemorating the spot where several priests were slain when Indians revolted against Spanish rule in 1680.

After the remains were spotted by Roberts and his pilot, C. J. Boyd, following two hours of searching, a party had little difficulty in locating it.

Mrs. Roberts was found lying only about 40 feet up the arroyo from a small road. A curve in the gully prevented the body from being seen from the road.

Police Chief Martinez said a search party Wednesday came within 50 to 100 yards but did not notice the remains at the time.

Martinez said Mrs. Roberts' purse was found a short distance from the body. It contained only small pieces of jewelry, lipstick and knickknacks, the chief said.

Sat By Tree
State Police Captain K. K. Miller said that Mrs. Roberts apparently had sat beside a scrub tree atop the deep gully, then crawled on hands and knees to the bottom where her body was discovered.

The police chief said Mrs. Roberts' body was found in the rugged pinion and juniper-studded hills and arroyos between the old South Road and the new four-lane U.S. 85 bypass.

She was discovered about 3/4 mile north of where a famed New Mexico bloodhound, Symbol, lost the

Legless Vet Is Accused Of Aid To Communists

... Kutcher Brands Charges 'Lie'

WASHINGTON (INS)—A legless war veteran was accused Friday of aiding North Korea and Communist China by calling for "strikes" during the Korean conflict and he branded the charges an "unmitigated lie."

James Kutcher of Newark, N. J., declared in a dramatic open hearing that he "bitterly" opposes the governments of both nations and the Communist Party and Russia as well.

The World War II amputee "proudly" admitted charges by the Veterans Administration that he has been active in the Socialist Workers' Party but he denied that group seeks "overthrow" of the U. S. government, except by constitutional means.

A three-man VA committee heard two hours of arguments and testimony in the case and then announced that a decision will be made sometime early next year on whether to withdraw Kutcher's $229 a month disability pension.

The VA has threatened to cancel the pension on the grounds that Kutcher's Socialist activities bar his right to disability payments.

During the unusual open hearing, Kutcher's lawyers accused the VA of acting out of "ignorance" and "vindictiveness." Attorney Joseph Rauh Jr. asked that the case be dismissed on the grounds that the VA has confused Socialism with Communism.

Rauh also protested bitterly when Peyton Moss, chairman of the VA hearing committee, declared that "anyone who would cause a strike during war" would be guilty of aiding the enemy. Late in the hearing, Kutcher answered

"yes" when his attorney asked if these and similar charges were not an "unmitigated lie."

Rauh read excerpts from two speeches made by President Eisenhower in the 1952 presidential campaign relating to the Korean War, which he said were "far, far worse" than anything Kutcher has ever said.

SEC. BRUCKER SAYS:

U.S. Ready In Korea

Forces On Armistice Line At 'Razor Edge' Of Readiness

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Army Brucker said Friday that if the Communists start anything in Korea "we are ready."

Interviewed on his return from a West Pacific inspection tour, Brucker said he found American forces manning the armistice line between North and South Korea are at a "razor edge" of readiness and added:

"If anybody thinks this is just an operations stalemate over there, they have got another thing coming. If the Communists start anything we are ready."

Brucker described Okinawa as the American "nerve center of the Pacific now" and said this country intends to retain control of the island for "many, many years."

He said U. S. defense on Okinawa, which faces Communist China south of Japan, are mobile and ready. "Among these defenses he mentioned the Army's 280 mm. cannon, which can fire atomic as well as conventional shells."

Brucker said American military power on Okinawa, which was controlled by the Japanese before World War II, "must be continued on a strong level and strengthened as time goes on." He declined to go into details.

In response to a question, Brucker said the Communists "very, very definitely" have been building up weapons in North Korea in violation of the 1953 armistice agreement.

This jibed with the "massive buildup" in Red air power reported Tuesday by Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, chief of the Far East Air Force. Kuter said the Communists now have more than 7,000 aircraft, almost one-third of their total air power, based in North Korea and other parts of Asia.

Brucker said he had made it clear in talks with Japanese officials that the United States is "not anxious" to keep troops in Japan any longer than necessary, but he saw no immediate likelihood of any further reduction in U. S. military strength there. He said "time is wasting" unless the Japanese build up their own defense force.

Brucker visited Quemoy, which has been under increasing Red artillery fire lately, but said he found no evidence the Chinese Communists were preparing an attack on the Nationalist-held islands "in the foreseeable future."

Income Tax Classes Set

Several special classes on income tax returns have been scheduled during January by the Lincoln office of the Internal Revenue Bureau.

A three-day school will be held for the third year at the Lincoln High School for students on Jan. 4, 5 and 6.

The classes, conducted by Agents Richard C. Ehrensing and Robert P. Jones, teach income tax fundamentals so that individuals will know how to make out their own forms.

Two classes have been set for Jan. 9 at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company plant and classes have been set for Jan. 10 at the Auburn High School in the vocational agricultural department.

Agent Jones said the classes are encouraged by the bureau and similar classes can be scheduled for other interested organizations.

During the peak of the income tax season, special classes are conducted at the Lincoln office to encourage those who seek assistance to learn the fundamentals that will help them to help themselves.

Injury Suit Filed By LAFB Airman

A $83,875 personal injury suit has been filed in Lancaster District Court by Edward E. Sandomierski of the Lincoln Air Force Base against Virgil J. Fixemer of Geneva.

Sandomierski alleges injuries from a car-truck collision last Nov. 20 on Highway 6 about three miles north of Gretna.

The plaintiff states in his suit that he pulled his car off onto the shoulder of the road after developing engine trouble.

A pick-up truck driven by the defendant, Sandomierski alleges, struck his car while he and a companion were looking under the hood.

ALASKAN CITIES ARE BURIED UNDER SNOW

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (INS) — Wind-whipped snows paralyzed Alaska's largest cities Friday with nearly four-foot depths and residents braced for temperatures expected to plunge to 50 below zero in some sections of the territory.

In Anchorage and Cordova, already under a declared "state of emergency," snows are drifting over abandoned cars. Business life has slowed to a standstill.

Alaska railroad trains arrived as much as 21 hours late in Fairbanks, where 27 inches of snow has fallen since Dec. 1, the heaviest in almost 20 years.

The 50,000 residents of Anchorage — the territory's largest city — struggled under a burden of 41 inches of snow — 30 inches of which have fallen since Monday night.

Temperatures dropped to 10 above zero during the night and Anchorage Mayor Ken Hinchey called on residents to close up shop and stay home.

A heavy snowfall, interrupted at midnight, began again Friday morning and officials said 90 per cent of Anchorage was idled by the storm.

Command Echelon Of Third Marines Going To Okinawa

TOKYO (Saturday) (INS) — A command echelon of the Third Marine Division will be moved from Japan to Okinawa next Tuesday to set up closer contact with Marine units to be established permanently on America's Far East Pacific island stronghold.

Announcement of the move was made in a joint statement by Gen. L. L. Lemnitzer, Far East armed forces commander; Gen. I. D. White, head of the Eighth Army, and Maj. Gen. Thomas A. Wornham, commander of the Third Marines.

The announcement said only a "limited number" of personnel will be transferred to Okinawa from the Third Marine Division's headquarters at Camp McGill, 30 miles south of Tokyo.

General Wornham, it was added, will continue to exercise direct command over his units both in Japan and on Okinawa and will divide his time between the two headquarters.

Ike Punches Back At Reds

Liberation Of Captive Peoples In Red Satellite Nations 'Will Be A Major Goal Of U.S.'

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—President Eisenhower Friday served notice on Soviet Russia that peaceful liberation of captive peoples in Red satellite nations "will continue to be a major goal of United States foreign policy."

This position was set forth in a White House statement personally approved by the President in reply to sharp criticism of him voiced yesterday by Nikita Khrushchev, Russia's Communist party boss.

Khrushchev accused Eisenhower of violating the spirit of the Geneva summit conference and of "crude interference" in the affairs of Eastern Europe. The Red Leader said the interference came in the President's Christmas message broadcast to the people of that Soviet-dominated area.

In that message, the President assured his Eastern European listeners that Americans share their "concern for the restoration of individual freedoms and political liberty."

Dulles Named, Too

Khrushchev's blast was the first time any Kremlin chief had loosed such an attack on the President since before the Geneva conference of last July. Khrushchev also aimed his criticism at Secretary of State Dulles, because of a message he beamed at the satellites.

The U.S. reply was in a statement issued by James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, after it had been approved by Eisenhower as well as Dulles.

"The peaceful liberation of captive peoples," the statement said, "has been, is, and — until success is achieved — will continue to be a goal of United States foreign policy."

The statement made it clear the captive peoples mentioned are those in the Soviet satellite countries of Eastern Europe.

3 1/2-Hour Session

Eisenhower, in Key West for further convalescence from his Sept. 24 heart attack, approved the statement at the end of a three and a half hour work session which dealt mainly with the State of the Union message he will send to Congress Jan. 5.

Hagerty telephoned Dulles in Washington for the secretary's approval.

Just as Khrushchev's criticism indicated a tougher Russian foreign policy, the reply underscored that the United States has decided not to let such criticism go unchallenged.

That represented a change from the first reaction here. Hagerty told newsmen Thursday that Eisenhower had been told about the Khrushchev attack, but that neither the President nor he would comment.

Khrushchev contended that Eisenhower's Christmas message was of a sort which "leads only to inciting passion and the arms race."

The White House reply took note of Khrushchev's claim that the Eisenhower-Dulles messages "in no way accord with the spirit of Geneva," where the President met with the government leaders of Russia, Britain and France.

Mediation Board Intervenes In U.P. Threatened Strike

WASHINGTON (INS) — The National Mediation Board announced Friday that it had intervened in a threatened strike of railway conductors on the Union Pacific Railroad.

The threatened strike would have affected only the central and northwestern divisions of the railroad.

The Board said both the railroad and the Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen had accepted its mediation efforts.

A mediator will be sent out within about two weeks, a Board official said.

No date had been set for the threatened strike, the Board official said, adding that working rules and other grievances are involved.

There was no information immediately available on the number of men involved in the dispute.

—FARM FRONT— Commodity Prices Take Another Dip

... In Past Month

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Agriculture Department said Friday that farm commodity prices dropped another 1 per cent between mid-November and mid-December.

It was the third successive month in which tumbling agricultural prices have hit the farmer's economic situation in the midst of a boiling political controversy over the agricultural outlook.

As a result of the latest decline, the parity ratio — which measures the relationship between the prices farmers receive for their commodities and the cost of things they have to buy — reached the lowest point since September, 1940.

Living and operating costs remained unchanged from Nov. 15 to Dec. 15. The crop reporting board said that continuing declines in prices received by farmers for hogs, cattle and cotton were largely responsible for the latest drop.

Prices received for eggs, fruit, corn and tobacco went up during the 30-day period. Overall prices for all crops increased 1 per cent during the month but livestock and livestock products as a group were off 3 per cent.

The end-of-the-year price report showed that all farm commodities were at a level 7 per cent below a year earlier.

Most politicians predict freely that the worsening farm cost-price situation will have a strong impact on the outcome of next November's presidential elections.

Larry Faltz, 4, Hospitalized, Flu Hinders Breathing

Four-year-old Larry Faltz of 1945 T, was rushed to Lincoln General Hospital after virus had partially obstructed his breathing Friday.

The fire department resuscitator was called to the home but the resuscitator was not used.

He was reported in "fairly good" condition at the hospital early Saturday morning.

Bellhop, 15, Tells Of Alley Beating

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (INS) — Marvin Booth, 15-year-old bellhop, told police three "kids" attacked him as he walked through an alley on a shortcut back to the hotel where he is employed.

Booth had been to the postoffice and was returning about 9:30 p.m., he said when the trio jumped out from behind some boxes and beat him about the head.

He said they demanded money and he gave them his billfold which was empty. They threw it down and raced off, he said.

He was not hospitalized.

Edmonda Enters Plea Of Innocent

OMAHA (INS) — Fred Arthur Edmonda, 25, of Omaha pleaded innocent Friday at his arraignment before district Judge L. Ross Newkirk on a manslaughter charge.

He was charged in the Sept. 8, 1954, death of G. W. DuBoise, 27, who was found dying outside an east Omaha Tavern. The State contends that death was caused by a fight.

Edmonds will go on trial Jan. 16. Another man also has been charged in the case.

Two Good Reasons For Quitting

Al Snyder who operates this filling station at 1645 P is quitting business today, saying the present gas war and one-way streets have forced him out of business. Shown above are his last gas price sign at $22.9/10s and a one-way sign on 17th Street. (Star Staff Photo.)

Gas War, 1-Way Street Get Blame As Veteran Operator Quits Business

Lincoln's gasoline price war will cause a man who has operated a service station for 27 years to quit Saturday.

Al G. Snyder, who has operated the station at 1645 P since 1932, said his troubles first began when the 16th and 17th were made one-way streets, but that the price "war" is the "main" reason he is quitting. He said he has been through numerous such wars, and termed the current one "one of the worst."

He said it is harder on operators than previous wars because of present-day operating expenses, which are much greater than during previous wars.

"When you start making fifty cents or less an hour it's time to quit," Snyder said.

The 47-year-old father of three is sending one of his children through the University of Nebraska. But he is just as concerned over the one full-time man and one part-time man he had to lay off.

"I don't know how many people are being laid off because of the gas war," he said, "but a lot of men are out of work."

Snyder said he was going to a training school in Omaha to study automotive mechanics.

"I plan to put up my own building and have my own garage after graduation," he said.

Snyder predicted "the gas war will end right after the first of the year."

Wipe Books Clean
"The oil companies will drop their prices at the tail end of the year," he said, "but when a new year starts they will wipe their books clean and up the prices for the next operating year."

Snyder boiled down the reasons for the present gas price war.

"Normally the independents set their gas prices at one or two cents below the major companies," he said.

"But the independents in Lincoln began to go three cents below the major oil companies. The independents are finding out this is a good territory to get into. People are not looking for quality, they look at the gas price."

"The majors believed they were losing business because of the three cent drop," he said.

The price-cutting of gasoline began the first week in November. The average price of regular gasoline then was 29.9 cents a gallon. Name-brand stations now offer regular for 22.9 cents a gallon and independents for 21.9.

Similar wars are now on in Norfolk and North Platte, and have occurred throughout the state in recent years.

U.S. Endorses Pope's Appeal On Disarming

WASHINGTON (INS) — The U.S. Friday endorsed Pope Pius XII's Christmas appeal for worldwide nuclear disarmament and accused Russia of "distorting" the spirit and meaning of his words.

The endorsement came in a Voice of America broadcast giving the first official U.S. reaction to the pontiff's message. The broadcast, prepared by the U.S. Information Agency, was transmitted throughout the world.

It noted that the pope called for an end to nuclear weapons tests, renunciation of the use of such weapons, and effective control of armaments.

The broadcast added: "The achievement of all three in conjunction would be a great step toward real peace and real disarmament."

In charging that the Reds were "violating" and "distorting" the Pope's appeal, the VOA declared: "The Communists who have always been the bitterest enemies of the pope and the Roman Catholic Church have attempted to pull parts of the pope's message out of context and to make propaganda capital out of this."

The broadcast said the Communist press "has not seen fit to comment" on the pontiff's favorable reference to President Eisenhower's open-skies inspection proposal and the supplementary plan for land observation posts advanced by Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin.

A Bride This Morning

MISS PATRICIA LEE CHILDS whose marriage to James D. Colling of McCook will be solemnized this morning at Holy Family Church.

The wedding of Miss Patricia Lee Childs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip M. Childs, and James D. Colling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Colling of McCook, will take place this morning at Holy Family Church. Poinsettias, white gladioli and white mums, arranged against a screen of evergreens, will form a background for the 10 o'clock ceremony which will be solemnized by Msgr. L. V. Barnes. Miss Mary Dodge, organist, will play the wedding music and will accompany the vocal soloist, Marion Brinkman.

Turquoise taffeta has been chosen for the costumes of the attendants, including Mrs. Robert Colling of Shelby, the matron of honor; Miss Barbara Carlson of Arcadia, Calif., the maid of honor; and the bridesmaids, Miss Joan Winter, Hastings; Miss Marianne Colling, McCook, and Miss Alice Hamilton. The frocks are designed with elongated bodices, in which the draped, portrait necklines are dramatized with back streamer bows of velvet, and which are snugly fitted above the wide, dantseuse-length skirts. Each will wear a hair bandeau of silver leaves, and each will carry a bouquet of red carnations, accented with silver leaves.

Robert Colling of Shelby will serve his brother as best man, and seating the guests will be Gary Gierhart, McCook; Robert McConville, Tom Jones, both of Indianola, and David Childs.

The bride will appear in a gown of Dupioni silk in the gardenia tone. An overlay of lace patterns the long-sleeved bodice which features a deep shell neckline encircled with minute lace flowers. Beneath the slender waist the skirt flares into an accentuated fullness and is completed with a cathedral train. Her tiered fingertip veil of illusion is held to the head with a jewel-encrusted crown, and she will carry a crescent arrangement of white roses on a white prayer book.

The bride attended the College of St. Mary in Omaha, and Mr. Colling is a former student at McCook Junior College and the University of Nebraska.

Mr. Colling and his bride will reside in McCook.

AROUND TOWN

THE WEEK-END follows its expected pattern and is very, very busy—This morning we have news of the New Year's activity, but the holiday period doesn't monopolize the conversation by any means—

In the first place there is a bit of catching-up to do—We didn't have room yesterday to tell you that on Thursday evening Dr. and Mrs. Dwight Cherry and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Garlinghouse were hosts and hostesses at a 5 o'clock-to-8 o'clock party when they entertained at a welcome-to-Lincoln affair for Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Moessner who recently have arrived from Iowa City to reside here. Dr. Moessner, we hear, is to be associated with Dr. Garlinghouse and Dr. Cherry.

THEN we wanted to tell you that Mr. and Mrs. Jean R. Kinder were back in town after spending several days, including the Christmas weekend, at Sun Valley. With Mr. and Mrs. Kinder at the resort spot were their daughter, Mrs. Kinder Dwinell, and their granddaughter, Jean Dwinell, of Chicago.

In addition to the Christmas Eve festivities, which included a spectacular performance by the Ski Patrol when the members came down the mountain-side, serpentine fashion, bearing flaming torches, there were carolers on the balconies of the Chateau, Christmas lights, Christmas trees—and to make Christmas Eve a complete success—it was snowing.

On hand for Christmas at Sun Valley, also, were Burt Lancaster, stage, screen and TV star, and his five children—and Cornel Wilde and his family.

FROM La Paz, Bolivia, S. A., this morning comes news of the arrival of Victoria Ann Singer, on Wednesday, Dec. 28. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Derek Singer, and her mother is the former Ruth Chaikin Sorensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Sorensen.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Singer received their Master's Degrees in International Relations at Johns Hopkins University, Washington, D.C. branch. Mrs. Singer, of course, was graduated from the University of Nebraska. The family is residing in La Paz where Mr. Singer heads the CARE organization.

HEAR that Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cunningham and Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Rosewell sent out some very clever invitations for the hors d'oeuvres party they are having this eve ing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham preceding the Cotillion Club New Year's Eve dinner dance. The invitations, delivered in person, were fashioned of stereoforn snowball men—ornamented with red eyes, noses and mouths, and sporting a red ribbon hairbow in which the invitation was tucked.

HEARD, too, that the Spanish Gardens Club, a newly organized group that plans to delve into the intricacies of exotic menus, will have its first meeting New Year's Eve when the members meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Shaw.

AND we discovered that a traditional New Year's Eve group will have its usual potluck New Year's Eve supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Holyoke—The eightsome will include, in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Holyoke, Mr. and Mrs. Burket Graf, Mr. and Mrs. George Day and Dr. and Mrs. Norman Cromwell.

From East To West For Christmas

In spite of the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. L. Greer of Portsmouth, N. H., had definitely decided against a Christmas trip to Lincoln — they came. We hear that there was considerable pressure put forth by their sons and daughters-in-law, Mr.

and Mrs. J. Taylor Greer, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. L. Greer, Jr., of Winnetka, Ill., to bring the visitors west, but it really took a small granddaughter, Penny, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Greer, to get them headed towards the travel bureau office.

Late December Wedding

MRS. WESLEY D. KLEIN

For the wedding of Miss Lillian H. Larson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar F. Larson, and Wesley D. Klein, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Klein, which took place on Friday evening, Dec. 30, the chancel of the Grace Lutheran Church was appointed with arrangements of white gladioli and white chrysanthemums against a bank of greenery inset with poinsettias. Dr. Leland H. Leshar solemnized the 7 o'clock service, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Thomas Graham, organist. Mrs. Graham also accompanied Mrs. Shirley Alpuerto, the vocal soloist.

Miss Mildred Klein, as the maid of honor; and the bridesmaids, Miss Patricia Benson and Miss Elsie Luebben, were frocked alike in peacock-tone taffeta. The bodices, designed with bateau necklines that extended into deep ovals at the back, narrowed to slender waists where the pattern of rhinestones, which contoured the neckline was repeated. The wide skirts flared into accentuated fullness at the dantseuse hemlines. Their costumes were completed with brow veils, held to the head with jeweled bandeaux and each carried a colonial bouquet of pink-tinted feathered carnations. Miss Geraldine Niemeier and Miss Shirley Benson, wearing white satin choir robes, lighted the candles.

Victor Larson served Mr. Klein as best man, and the foursome of ushers included Edward Klein, Eugene Mohr, Robert Doland and Edwin Anderson.

For the ceremony the bride chose a gown of tulle and imported lace in the frosty-mint-blue tone. Above a smoothly sculptured midriff the bodice was fashioned of lace in which a heart-shaped neckline, framed with re-embroidered lace flowers, slipped into brief sleeves, their length replaced with lace-patterned tulle mitts. Embroidered lace in a diamond motif was repeated on the extremely bouffant skirt which was fashioned of drifts of tulle. Her tiered, should-der-length veil of illusion was held to the head with a plateau hat of lace, edged with pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Had Chapel Ceremony

MRS. BILLY J. BICE

For the marriage of Miss Jo-Anne Louise Godfrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton E. Godfrey, to Billy J. Bice, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bice, which was solemnized Friday evening, Dec. 30, tall, lighted candles and spreading bouquets of white gladioli appointed the chapel of First Presbyterian Church. The 8 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by Dr. C. Vin White in the presence of 125 guests, and Miss Grace Finch, organist, played the wedding music. Miss Finch also accompanied Miss Delores Belz, vocalist.

The maid of honor was Miss Carol Oehring who wore a full-skirted frock of rose taffeta fashioned in the ballerina mode. Beneath the Empire bodice and fitted midriff, the skirt flared into fullness, and her costume was completed by a pleated cap of frock-toned taffeta. Froked identically in French blue taffeta was the bridesmatron, Mrs. Donald Ward. Both attendants carried nosegays of white carnations.

Serving as best man was Donald Ward, and seating the guests were Gene Reznay, Jim Hruza and Larry Hillis.

The bride selected white brocaded satin for her wedding gown. Tiny pearls marked the throatline of the rounded yoke of illusion, and the molded bodice was designed with long, fitted sleeves. The circular skirt was caught into soft fullness beneath an Elizabethan waist, and her illusion veil was held to the head by a pleated cap of satin. She carried a white Bible clustered with white, feathered carnations.

A reception was held in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Bice will make their home at 1012 South St.

Wedding On Friday

MRS. CARROL BURGASON

The chancel of the Stromsburg Baptist Church was decorated with pedestal arrangements of crimson poinsettias and pine, and lighted by white candles, for the marriage of Miss Carol Ann Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Green of Stromsburg, to Cpl. Carrol D. Burgason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Burgason, also of Stromsburg, on Friday evening, Dec. 30. The Rev. Winston Sherwick read the lines of the service, preceding which Miss Margaret Hrubesky sang accompanied by Mrs. Leroy Nelson, organist, who also played the wedding music.

Wearing alike frocks of red velvet were Mrs. James Newcome of Stromsburg as the matron of honor, the bridesmaids, Miss Jeanette Krause and Miss Jeanene Krause of Omaha, and the junior bridesmaids, Miss Suellyn Green of Boyden, Ia., and Miss Peggy Ann Burgason of Stromsburg.

Roger Burgason of Memphis, Tenn., served as best man, and the ushers were James Newcome and Larry Kreis of Stromsburg, Bill Bryan of Osceola, and Gary Green of Boyden, Ia.

The bride's gown was fashioned of white Chantilly-type lace and tulle. Shallow scallops of the lace edged with illusion contoured the off-shoulder neckline, and the molded bodice was completed by long, tapered sleeves. The full skirt of lace was trimmed by a front panel of the tulle and was accented at the back by a cascade of tulle and lace ruffles which extended into a train. Her illusion veil was held by a lace cap edged with pleated tulle and dotted with iridescents, and she carried a white Bible ornamented with a white orchid and sprays of holly.

Following a reception for 250 guests, held in the church parlors, the couple left for an eastern wedding trip. They will reside at Newport, N.C., where Cpl. Burgason is stationed with the Marine Corps at Cherry Point.

Both are former students at Nebraska Wesleyan University where Mrs. Burgason is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority.

Alumnae Club

Miss Mary Bauer will be hostess next Tuesday evening to the Sigma Iota Alumnae at her home, 841 So. 15th. The regular monthly meeting will begin at 8 o'clock and a program has been planned.

Assisting hostesses will include Miss Velma Bush, Miss Marie Sloss, Mrs. Viola Thompson, Miss Ruth Dreamer, Miss Mary Jane Waggoner and Miss Grace Finch.

Nebraska on Upgrade

Across the river in Iowa, the deer kill was reported in the news columns as slightly in excess of 2,500 head, with a few days of the hunting season still to go. It had been a cold season with snow on the ground. The ice on some of Iowa's lakes had become thick enough to contribute to some of the best ice fishing in recent years.

But Nebraska does not need to take a back seat by comparison with some of its sister states when it comes to hunting and fishing activities. The deer kill here was larger than it was in Iowa, on the basis of the early reports. And some of the best duck and goose hunting in recent times was reported after the flight from the northern woods and lakes to the Deep South got under way.

Nebraska has come a long way in wildlife development in the last 10 years. On occasions the pheasant crop has given some disappointment because of unfavorable conditions during the hatching season. But in much of Nebraska, all of the species of game birds have picked up in numbers. And the same observation applies to deer which have made an amazing comeback.

We can expect more wild game when the state is in a position to spend more money. Thus far, game and fish activities in Nebraska are financed largely through license fees and fishing permits, with little coming into the fund from tax sources. Federal aid supplies the rest. A long-range, carefully developed program over the next 10 years would return Nebraskans handsome dividends. The dominant shift from 1955 to 1965 will be found in the ever-expanding opportunities for outdoor relaxation.

Just How Happy?

To most Americans the happy new year greeting will have a true ring and they can respond to it with enthusiasm.

But as the week-end opens there are thousands who may well pause and before replying ask themselves, well, just how happy?

They are the ones who will get behind the wheel and brave the open road.

The National Safety Council estimates that 1955 will close with a new high mark for traffic fatalities and it expects the final week-end to produce the added hundreds to clinch the record.

The council sets the probable toll at 38,500—some 2,500 more than last year. And if there is any skepticism one only need be reminded that a cold, factual survey by the Associated Press listed 35,785 for the first 11 months of 1955—a virtual tie with 1954's final 12 months total.

The figures tell a dismal story but they are proper provender for all who wheel into the highways. If there is any good in them at all it will be in the care and restraint they invoke.

Quints No Longer

It is with a tinge of regret and disillusionment that news of misunderstanding and disaffection in the Dionne family is received.

The four remaining of the now grown quintuplets do not feel the parental ties of childhood. Now come to womanhood and the individual fortunes their unusual childhood earned they have assigned their parents to a lesser position in their ordering of that which they believe to be a more free and private life, it is said. The parents are hurt. The public which itself has formed an unbreakable picture of a special group of illustrious sisters finds it difficult to change the pattern of the past. Somehow the "quints" seemed to have passed out of existence with something not as appealing now replacing them.

In defense of the young ladies one must be reminded that theirs was not a normal childhood. They were public property, their home a show case. While that condition may not have wearied an interested public it is understandable that it would neither produce normal family ties nor replace the natural human yearnings of normal girls for the privacy and the freedom the rest of us take for granted.

That which the quints need and deserve is a good helping of anonymity and time enough to catch up on all they missed while they were being displayed as Exhibit A.

The hope now is that neither Papa Dionne nor his distinguished daughters nor the public prevail in their total desires but that the difficult stage runs its course to a happy ending, which it most probably will.

On Its Way Up

The year of 1955 will go down on the record with many outstanding achievements. But politically speaking none prove any more welcome than the present Argentina fashioned for itself and the free world by throwing out Dictator Peron.

And as the year closed there was comforting evidence that Argentina would emerge with its bearings truly set on democracy and progress. Two notable pieces of evidence stand out. One was the provisional government's recent action restoring La Prensa, Buenos Aires' great newspaper, to its rightful owners together with encouragement for its return to full free speech.

The other was the recent decree that free elections would be restored and the heads of the current restoration government would not and could not be candidates. It constituted assurance by the Army regime that it did not mean to use its rescue of the country with permanent possession of it, a temptation that too often overpowers provisional rulers and destroys the goals of reform.

Editorial Of The Day

12 Days And 42 Swans

(From The St. Louis Post-Dispatch)

We have been following with deep interest the learned discussion of Pogo and friends about partridges in a pear tree. Albert is entirely right, in our judgment, when he expresses alarm, disbelief and amazement at the enormous glut of poultry, jewelry and citizenry that is alleged to have been sent by the true love to the subject. Yes, sir, that is a lot of poultry clackin' and quackin' and goffin' around, and 10 leaping lords added to nine ladies dancin' do indubitably make 19 people fracasin' up the place.

But Albert doesn't know the half of it. If he will back up and count over, he will observe that the true love dispatched on each of the 12 days of Christmas a cumulative total of items. On the first day, a partridge in a pear tree. On the second, another partridge plus two turtle doves. On the third, a partridge, two more doves, plus three French hens. And so on.

Our mathematics may be as weak as Albert's, but we make it, all told, by the end of the twelfth day, 12 partridges in 12 pear trees, 22 turtle doves, 30 French hens, 36 calling birds, 40 golden rings, 42 geese a-laying, 42 swans a-swimming, 40 maids a-milking, 36 ladies dancing, 30 lords a-leaping, 22 pipers piping, and 12—only 12—drummers drumming.

The tragedy of the Eisenhower administration is that under the guise of private enterprise, Mr. Eisenhower has been letting the spokesmen for the private utilities throw dust in his eyes. Whether dams creating huge reservoirs are constructed to store flood and waste waters, to reduce or eliminate flood damage downstream, to provide expansion for irrigation, or to rebuild underground water supplies, the fact is that no huge dam rests upon the solid financial foundation it could have unless electric development becomes one of the prime purposes of construction.

Pearson and this editor have never discussed flood programs either in New England or on the west coast. But when the governors of some of the New England states together with New England's representatives in Congress turned thumbs down on the late Sen. Norris's proposal for a TVA in New England they set the stage for these devastating floods of 1955, naturally unwittingly and only because of the activities of blind, unseeing spokesmen for the utility interests. It is a frightful price for the American people in their ignorance to pay. We have had losses in the New England states—losses on the West coast—running into the hundreds of millions of dollars. And those losses will be repeated at irregular intervals when torrential rains fall. Last Saturday's issue of the San Francisco Chronicle—a flood "Extra"—carried two black 96-point Gothic streamlines, eight columns, across the front page and a third eight-column streamline of 72 point heralding the fact there were nine pages of photos and stories in that particular issue of the Chronicle telling the tale of Northern California's greatest flood disaster.

This editor, however, in casually examining the paper saw no reference to the fact that some of the tributaries cutting through northern and central California had exacted an awesome toll because private enterprise had been able to defeat a program of big dams and huge reservoirs, capable of storing vast amounts of water. Pearson's column on this page is a thoughtful, challenging one.

DREW PEARSON

California Floods Were Preventable

WASHINGTON — Tragic, inside fact about the Pacific Coast floods is that most of them could have been prevented.

Reason they weren't goes back to the long-drawn-out battle waged in the Roosevelt administration, the Truman administration, and the Eisenhower administration over "creeping kilowatts" — in other words, public power.

Flood-control dams can't be built economically without harnessing the electric power that comes from those dams, and the utility lobby has fought bitterly — in many cases successfully — against any flood control that would also put more electric power in the hands of government agencies.

This basic battle was behind Dixon-Yates. It was also behind the defeat of the TVA flood-control plan voted for New England in 1936 defeated by the utilities. It was also behind a similar plan for flood-scoured eastern Pennsylvania.

Instead of "creeping socialism," therefore, these areas have had cresting flood waters, evacuated cities, washed-out railroads; and in California and Oregon this Christmas, a total of 43 dead plus $150,000,000 of damage.

The utility which has chiefly fought flood-control dams in northern California is Pacific Gas and Electric, whose president, James B. Black, has been a star guest at Ike's famous stag dinners.

His influence in blocking reclamation legislation began, however, long before Ike entered the White House.

THE FLOOD SCORE

Here, dam by dam and flood by flood, is the score in northern California:

The Feather River — This is one of the major tributaries to the Sacramento river and disastrously spilled over its banks just before Christmas. To harness the Feather river, Oscar Chapman, secretary of the Interior under Truman, proposed the Oroville dam. Pacific Gas and Electric, however, objected. And after much maneuvering and prodding, the state of California took over the building of the dam.

That was in 1950. Five years have now passed and the Oroville dam is not yet built. It isn't even started. California appropriated $10,000,000 to get started, part of which was spent, but ground wasn't even broken.

Pacific Gas and Electric meanwhile has a "run-of-the-river" dam on the Feather, with no storage capacity. It merely generates power. It costs money to build a big dam that can hold back flood waters, and P. G. and E. hasn't built them.

Shasta Reservoir — In contrast, the Shasta dam, built by the federal government under Truman, swallowed up torrents of water during the Christmas rains and is holding the floods back. Pioneered by famed dam-builder Harold Ickes, it is now operating like clockwork. There were no major floods from Redding to Sacramento on the Sacramento river.

It was the side tributaries of the Sacramento, the Yuba and Feather rivers, flowing in below the Shasta dam, which caused the damage.

Trinity River — Here a dam and tunnel were proposed to take water out of the Trinity, which flows into the Klamath river, and pipe it to the Keswick reservoir in order to relieve the frequently swollen Klamath river. This would have prevented floods. But the 15-foot drop as the water rushed through the tunnel would have generated "creeping kilowatts" — in other words, the cheap electric power that Pacific Gas and Electric didn't want.

All this came to a head last summer in one of the unpublicized but notable battles of the Eisenhower administration.

McKAY DALLIES

Despite F. G. and E. opposition, congress voted for the Trinity river flood control-public power project, thanks to the tenacity of Congressman Clare Egan (D., Cal.). Congress not only voted the authorization but appropriated money to begin work, and it did so despite the opposition of the President's budget bureau and of his secretary of the interior, Douglas McKay.

At one congressional debate, Pacific Gas and Electric made a counter-proposal — that the Trinity river project be a partnership whereby the federal government would build the dams but let P. G. and E. put in its generators, generate the power and sell it. Then, said P. G. and E., it wouldn't be creeping socialism.

Congress, however, called this a one-horse-one-rabbit deal and voted no. It decreed that since the Trinity river dam was to be paid for by the taxpayers, the taxpayers must get the benefit of cheaper public power. So the project, duly voted by Congress, was sent to Secretary McKay for action.

There it has remained. Secretary McKay has taken no action. Seven months have passed and not one shovel has been lifted or one bulldozer moved to carry out the will of Congress.

Meanwhile, the Trinity river went roaring over its banks to destroy people and property in California.

If McKay had started work seven months ago when Congress acted, he could not of course have prevented the flood. But the real fact is that the Trinity river project was in the hang-over budget which Eisenhower inherited from Truman and Oscar Chapman three years ago, but which was promptly knocked out.

Another flood-control project killed by the utilities was proposed for the Rogue river in Oregon—namely, a dam near Medford. First urged in 1948 by the Truman administration, it was killed by the California Oregon Pacific Power Company together with Pacific Gas and Electric.

Note — The chief California congressmen who have been maneuvering to block flood control-power dams are Leroy Johnson of Stockton and Hubert Scudder of Sebastopol, Republicans. They get valiant help from congressman Ben Jensen, Republican of Iowa, who, as former chairman of the Interior department appropriations subcommittee, was able to knock off dam appropriations in the secrecy of committee.

ARCH DONOVAN

In Step With The Sower

For nearly six months last winter, the Sower listened to Sen. Donald F. McGinley of Ogallala orate to the Legislature on the "Beef State" designation which will appear on license plates of motor vehicles for the first time in 1956.

It was a good selling job and the Ogallala senator convinced a majority of the Legislature and the Sower that Nebraska really does produce, fatten and market the best beef of any state in the nation.

We will have the slogan on our license plates next year. It is not a question of whether we approve, but Col. C. J. Sanders and the Safety Patrol would have us saying, "Good morning, Your Honor," to a judge if we failed to display it.

Probably more convincing in the arguments that Nebraska does put on the market the finest of beef were Sens. D. J. Cole of Merriman and A. A. Fenske of Sonol. They provided a taste test of luscious steaks.

Of course, they used it as propaganda for the particular breed of cattle they raise—Angus. But whether Angus, Hereford or a well-fattened Holstein, the steaks made one and all admit that Nebraska beef cannot be excelled by any other state, including Texas, which has a reputation for boasting of their size and products.

This leads us to a "thank you" to Texas, where A. C. Eichberg, administrative assistant to Gov. Victor Anderson, is spending a vacation supervising the harvesting of his citrus crop.

Ike and the Sower can usually agree on the best part of the state, both hailing from Madison County, where Ike has a farm and despite drought conditions had rains at opportune times and thus had a good crop. We hope he does as well in Texas.

We could not agree as well on Texas. The Sower helped guard the border from raids of Pancho Villa, the Mexican renegade, just as they were starting irrigation in the Rio Grande Valley. We would have given whole counties of the Texas sand for one square foot of Nebraska's rich topsoil.

But the genial Ike insisted that water did wonders to the soil and laughed off our arguments. He told of the citrus groves now dotting the landscape and the delicious fruit they produce. We remained unconvinced until Christmas.

Then from way down south in Texas came a package from Alamo. From the Eichberg trees he had handpicked an assortment of grapefruit and tangerines which he sent to the members of the press corps at the Capitol. The paper wrapping of the fruit days "Best Wishes from Texas."

We are now getting our vitamins fresh off the Texas trees and have quit using the bottled kind prescribed by our medico.

If we could combine the tasty tang of the Texas fruit with the solid comfort of eating one of Don McGinley's Nebraska beef steaks, we would ask nothing further from life. Maybe on his return Ike can be the Burbank to combine the two. Which state he loves most, we often question.

We know he cannot help but have a Happy New Year if he starts his days off by eating the fruit from his own land.

And speaking of the coming infant, 1956, we wish the most in health, prosperity and everything good to our co-workers, state employees both in the Capitol and at institutions, colleges and the university, the Legislature and the many friends we have made through the medium of this column.

Happy New Year, one and all.

A THOUGHT FOR THE SABBATH

Stories Of Famous Hymns

When Morning Gilds The Skies

When morning gilds the skies
My heart, awaking, cries,
May Jesus Christ be praised!
Alike at work and prayer
To Jesus I repair.
May Jesus Christ be praised!

In heaven's eternal bliss
The loveliest strain is this,
May Jesus Christ be praised!
The powers of darkness fear
When this sweet chant they hear
May Jesus Christ be praised!

Be this, while life is mine,
My canticle divine,
May Jesus Christ be praised!
Be this the eternal song
Through all the ages long
May Jesus Christ be praised!

By HORACE B. POWELL

Somewhere in Germany, early in the nineteenth century this glad morning hymn was written but the identity of the writer never has been discovered. It was published anonymously in a German song book in 1828 and was translated into English in 1854 by the Rev. Edward Caswall, distinguished English clergyman.

Caswall and Dr. John Mason Neale, another eminent English minister and author, have given English-speaking Christians some of their finest hymns through translations from German and Latin texts. Dr. Neale is best known for his English version of St. John of Damascus' hymn, "The Day of Resurrection", and the hymn, "Art Thou Weary, Art Thou Languid?" written in an eighth century monastery by St. Stephen, the Sabaite, John of Damascus' nephew.

Caswall's most popular hymn, apart from "When Morning Gilds The Skies", was his "Jesus, The Very Thought Of Thee", an exquisite translation made from an early Latin poem of Bernard of Clairvaux, a twelfth century Cistercian monk.

Born at Yatley, England in 1814, Caswall was graduated from Oxford University in 1836 and was ordained a deacon in the Church of England in 1838. He became perpetual curate of Stratford-on-Avon, near Salisbury, in 1840 but resigned as a pastor of the Established Church six years later to embrace the Roman Catholic faith.

In 1847, he became a priest in the Congregation of the Oratory at Birmingham, a church group which had been established by Cardinal John Henry Newman, an earlier "convert" from the Church of England. Newman wrote his immortal hymn, "Lead, Kindly Light", just before his bolt to Catholicism.

WEALTH VS. CHARITY?

Dolly Varden Chose Poverty

By JACK ESTELL

ST. LOUIS — The trumpets blared. There was a long roll of wooden sticks across the snare drum. And with the greatest of ease the petite young lady flew through the air on the flying trapeze.

That was circus life for Dolly Varden.

Dolly was one of the first in show business to reach the pinnacle of "fabulous" salaries. Circus star extraordinary, equestrienne and aerialist, she was the toast of two continents. Chocolates, shoes and clothing were named "Dolly Varden."

Dolly Varden died of cancer last Sunday at the age of 84 in a drab hospital ward in St. Louis.

Once she made $10,000 a week as America's most widely heralded circus star. She died penniless.

Dolly twinkled gaily over the tanbark trail for only a few years. But during that short interval in a full and nearly complete lifetime, she amassed a fortune.

She traveled in her own private railroad car. She was co-starred with the famous "Buffalo Bill" Cody. And shortly before retiring from the big top, she had her own circus at the 1904 world's fair in St. Louis.

Dolly retired, not because she no longer was famous, nor because she couldn't get billings, but because she desired to devote her life to doing good for others. She had "lots" of money and she wanted to put it to work.

Transition to welfare work from that of a celebrity was easy for Dolly. During her years of traveling throughout the United States, Canada and Europe the then "Queen of the Circus World" had an obsession that many convicts had been imprisoned falsely.

Whenever she heard that someone had been "framed" she would immediately start proceedings to get him out of prison.

Her efforts were successful for

THE PEOPLE SPEAK

Caught On A Hook

Omaha, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Mr. Eisenhower's gift (!) to agriculture, Ezra Taft Benson, now in the 13th round of his last authorized bout with Mr. American Farmer, comes out slugging. He leads with his chin, it goes up and down furiously, and words come out. . . . "Where and what is the problem of agriculture?" they ask!

Mr. American Farmer stoutly withstands the assault. His chin firms and his head clears up from the flurry. He thinks afresh, and his teeth gnash a reply: "What is the problem?" he flings back "It's the same problem that beset the catfish that had been caught by a neighbor's little boy, and were plunging and struggling and trying, while the lad complained: 'Why are you a-wigglin' so for, little fishes? I'm only trying to hold you real easy-like so's I can skin you—and gut you!'"

He asked for it, Mr. Benson did. So we will tell him. The problem is with the heart of agriculture. It does not want to be gutted — it wants to beat, and steady, and on and on, and for the good of the nation.

BIG SEVEN CROWNED IOWA STATE

Dandy Dons Trip UCLA For Crown

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Undeclared San Francisco, paced by All-American Bill Russell, rolled over UCLA with surprising ease, 70-53, for its 36th straight victory to capture the ECAC Holiday Festival Tournament Friday night before 16,357 spectators at Madison Square Garden.

Holy Criss nipped defending champion Duquesne, 61-57, in the opening half of the doubleheader to gain third place.

The 6-10 Russell was held to 17 points, his lowest scoring total of the tournament, but he did such a brilliant job on defense that he was voted the most valuable player of the tournament on 12 of the 13 ballots.

One ballot went to K. C. Jones, Russell's teammate, who played a whole of a game. The 6-2, 205-pound senior scored only nine points but he set up most of the plays for Russell and company and did a fine defensive job on Morris Taft, the Uclans' playmaker.

The Dons, who now have a 10-game winning streak this season, need only three more to equal the all-time college mark of 39 consecutive victories turned in by Long Island in 1935-37 and equaled by Seton Hall in 1939-41. Their next three games will be played at home against mediocre opposition—Pepperdine, Santa Clara and Fresno State.

UCLA, the last quintet to defeat San Francisco, never was in the game once the Dons jumped off to a 9-2 lead. After 10 minutes of the opening half, the Dons had built up a 22-12 lead.

Everybody had a hand in the scoring as Russell dropped them from inside with lay-ups and tap-ins, Jones and Harold Perry drove in for hooks and jump shots and Mike Farmer and Carl Boldt hit from outside with long one handers.

In the meantime, the Dons put up a rock-ribbed defense that limited the Uclans to only 10 field goals in the first half and 22 in all.

Trailing by 12 points at halftime, 37-25, the Uclans managed to narrow the Dons' lead to 10 points, 39-29, early in the second half, but baskets by Perry, Jones, Russell, Farmer and Jones again, pushed San Francisco out in front 49-31 at the five minute mark. The out-casted Uclans never came closer except for the final minute when they registered four baskets against the Dons' reserves.

Willie Naulls, held to 7 points in the first half by the close guarding of Farmer, wound up with 19 to take scoring honors. Russell's 17 was high for the winners.

Holy Cross' Joe Hughes' long onehander climaxed a long, uphill battle for the Crusaders as they overcame a 12-point Duquesne lead.

Hughes scored 15 points, coming through with a pair of important baskets, one that cut Duquesne's early 39-27 margin to 51-50 and the other that gave the Crusaders the lead, 57-55, with 2½ minutes remaining.

Waddleton led the victors with 18 points to Heinsohn's 17, dropping in the last four points that sealed Duquesne's doom.

St. Green, the highly rated Iron Duke's center, scored only 14 points.

LaSalle defeated St. John's of Brooklyn 85-76 for fifth place and Syracuse captured seventh place by routing Fordham 79-61 in an afternoon doubleheader.

Four Games Today Open 'Dizzy Bowl Weekend'

East, Blue, Border Stars Slight Favorites; Auburn Given Six-Point Nod In Gator Bowl

By WILL GRIMSLEY
The Associated Press

Auburn and Vanderbilt, clashing in Jacksonville's Gator Bowl, share the spotlight with a trio of all-star attractions Friday in the opening phase of college football's dizzy bowl weekend.

The height of the annual New Year's gridiron madness will be reached Monday with the four major bowl games and three others of lesser stature which will net more than two million dollars from 400,000 fans.

The traditional East-West Shrine game at San Francisco, with Ohio State's Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy in the East lineup, heads today's fare. A crowd of 61,000 is expected to view the contest in San Francisco, with millions watching on TV, beginning at 3:45 p.m. CST.

Here's today's schedule, with radio and television plans:

East-West Shrine game, San Francisco, 3:45 p.m., NBC television, MBS radio.

Gator Bowl, Jacksonville, Fla.—Vanderbilt (7-3-0) vs. Auburn (8-1-1), 1 p.m. CBS television and radio.

Blue-Gray game, Montgomery, Ala., 1:30 p.m. NBC television, MBS radio.

Salad Bowl, Phoenix, Ariz.—Skyline Conference All-Stars vs. Border Conference All-Stars, 3 p.m. no national TV or radio.

At San Francisco, the Eastern squad, heavily flavored with talent from the powerful Big 10, is rated a 7-point favorite over the West, largely exploiting Pacific Coast and Southwest talent.

Cassidy, two-time All-America halfback who was voted the Heisman award as the season's top player, is the principal weapon of his old coach, Woody Hayes of Ohio State, who is handling the East squad.

Hayes refused to list his starting lineup, saying the entire squad would see action, but he did disclose that the team had elected guard Calvin Jones of Iowa and center Ken Vargo of Ohio State as co-captains.

Schaefer Sidelined

One of the East's top players, fullback Don Schaefer of Notre Dame, was sidelined with an attack of influenza but he insisted he would be ready to play.

Jess Hill of Southern California, coaching the West, said Jim Contratto of Southern Cal would start at quarterback, with Preston Carpenter of Arkansas and Herb Naken of Utah at halves and Henry Moore of Arkansas at full.

At Montgomery, the Blue team is favored by 6 points over the Southern Grays, mainly on the strength of the passing of Wisconsin's Jim Haluska and the receiving of Harold Burnine of Missouri, who caught 44 passes during the season to rate as the nation's No. 1 snagger.

Air Potential

The Grays, coached by Paul

Dietzel of Louisiana State, also have an air potential in throwers Bob Hardy of Kentucky and Bart Starr of Alabama and receiver Howard Schnellenberger, Kentucky end.

The Gator Bowl game features two strong running teams, with Auburn holding a 16-pound to the man edge in the line and Vandy slightly heavier in the backfield. Auburn is favored by 6 points over a Vanderbilt team which showed considerable punch in its later games.

Don Orr, Vanderbilt's regular quarterback who dislocated his right shoulder in the closing game against Tennessee, appears ready to go to top speed. Auburn fullback Joe Childress, bitten by a cold germ, is expected to be okay.

The Border Conference All-Stars are a one-touchdown pick over the Skyline group at Phoenix. The game is expected to draw 12,000. A turnout of 36,000 is anticipated at Jacksonville with 20,000 sitting in on the Blue-Gray affair at Montgomery.

McDougald To Try Shortstop, Berra To Get Rest—Stengel

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Gil McDougald will take a whirl at shortstop, Yogi Berra will get 25 days rest during the season and the New York Yankees will deal if they get a chance at a first-class pitcher.

If it is possible to boil down a one-hour oration by Manager Casey Stengel into one paragraph, that is a capsule summary of Friday's press conference by the world traveler.

Pausing in New York between plane trips (from London and to Glendale, Calif.) Casey huddled with the boss, General Manager

George Weiss, and posed for a platoon of a camera men. Then he talked with the press.

Once the baseball business was cleared up with Stengel insisting rumored Yankee deals had not gone beyond the "talking stage," old Case gave a brief travelogue.

"I got a good workout at Istanbul," he said. "And I spent four days in Paris." Somebody asked why he tarried overlong in gay Paris. "They were having four holidays," he said. "It's a good thing for me too. You can't buy anything on holidays."

As for McDougald, the manager said he "had to admit he amazed me playing shortstop in eight games in Japan." Stengel also said he was convinced Billy Martin "could be as good as many shortstops playing in the American League — a fairly good shortstop."

Yankee Infield

Talking about his infield, Stengel said "McDougald and Martin are too good to rest. If you played Martin on second, McDougald on short and Andy Carey on third, you would be in pretty good shape."

Where does that leave Phil Rizuto?

"Rizuto played splendidly in the World Series," said Casey. "Did you ever hear of anybody getting old? You're not so agile as you were. Neither am I. You've got to prepare yourself."

How about the first base situation?

"That's a problem isn't it?" said Stengel. "But every year I do very good with my two, three, four, five or six. You'd have to say Bill Skowron has a good chance to play first base. He was doing real good last year until he injured his limb."

Stengel said he learned in Japan that Elston Howard, his part-time left fielder and catcher in 1955, was better in right field than in left. "But Berra may need 25 more days rest," he said. "It would help his hitting. I'd like to see Howard catch more."

As for the reports of a trade with Washington, Stengel said no deals had been made. "Mr. Weiss undoubtedly has been talking with the Washington ball club while I was on this trip," he said. "We are interested in making a deal with any club if there is a chance to get a first-class pitcher."

Wes Santee Runs 'Easy' 4:06 Mile

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Wes Santee of Kansas ran the measured mile in 4:06.3 Friday night, easily beating two rivals but failing to break four minutes.

He exchanged the lead a few times with Joe LaPierre of George Washington University but took over for good in the last quarter of a mile and preceded LaPierre across the finish line by six seconds.

Bill Adams, captain of the University of Florida track team, was a distant third. The race was a half-mile attraction at the junior Orange Bowl football game, which matches a junior team sponsored by the Coral Gables police against a team sponsored by the North Side Kiwanis Club of Atlanta, Ga.

Michigan Trips BYU

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Ron Kramer's 26 points and hot rebounding drove Michigan from behind to an 80-79 upset basketball victory over Brigham Young University Friday night. Center Herschell Pedersen and guard Terry Tebbins were the Brigham Young marksmen with 24 and 23 points respectively.

Coach Frank McGuire of the North Carolina basketball team has five New York City boys on his 12-man squad. Three others are from New Jersey.

Jayhawks Beaten 67-56; Tigers Tip Buffs 82-79

By SKIPPER PATRICK

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Iowa State Cyclones, led by fiery little Gary Thompson, won their first Big Seven Conference basketball tournament with a steady attack that beat down Kansas' Jayhawks 67-56 Friday night.

In the preliminary game for third place Missouri defeated Colorado 82-79. More than 10,000 packed Municipal Auditorium for the windup of the Conference's 10th annual tourney.

Thompson, a 5-10 junior who alternated at guard-playmaker and post man, was the top scorer with 22 points. At least eight of them came at a time when Kansas was threatening to wipe out a 17-point Iowa State first half lead.

Iowa State scored first when Thompson stole a Jayhawk pass and dribbled in for a bucket. Kansas, a two-time tournament winner, got one of three ties of the game a second later when Maurice King sank a long one-hand push shot.

The Cyclones moved out to a 10-2 lead before the Jayhawks counted again. Kansas, with Dallas Dobbs furnishing the fireworks, closed in to tie the score at 12-12.

After one more tie, Chuck Vogt made two free throws and Iowa State was ahead to stay.

Iowa State was in front by 17 points, 42-25, at the half.

Coach Phog Allen's Jayhawks, famed for their ability to tie the big ones, rallied in the second half. The teams traded points for 10 minutes, then Bill Brainard, Dobbs, King and Gene Elstun went to work to trim Iowa State's lead to seven, 57-50, before Iowa State regained its poise.

Thompson hit a long jump shot to stretch it to nine points and repeated the act to make it 11 before King scored for Kansas. Thompson added four free throws and Jerry Sandulube a field goal while Kansas' only bucket in the closing minutes was made by Elstun.

Kansas outscored the Cyclones from the floor, 22 to 18, but Iowa State dropped in 31 of its 37 free throw chances, compared to Kansas' 12 out of 20 attempts.

Iowa State's shooting percentage was 33.6 to 34 for Kansas.

It was Iowa State's first time in the tournament finals. Kansas won it in 1951 and 1953.

In the Missouri win Norman Steward poured in 33 points and played a spectacular floor game to lead his team to the third place spot. He got 16 points the first half, hitting consistently both from outside and under the bucket and added 17 points the second period.

So torrid were the Wildcats that bulky Wayne Hutchins, a 6 foot-6, 220-pound center, hit his first four tries from the field. This in itself is not so unusual except when you consider that he had made only two baskets in eight previous Wildcat games this season.

Stone wound up with 24 points and DeWitz got 18. Neither played the final 10 minutes.

Reck Eckwald led Nebraska with 13 points. The next closest Husker was Doc Smith with nine. This duo got 13 rebounds apiece for the Huskers.

Nebraska actually got more shots from the field (80) but could make but 19 of them. Kansas State hit 27 of 78 shots.

The Huskers left Kansas City at midnight Friday and were to arrive in Lincoln at 9:20 a.m. Saturday.

East, Cassidy Get Nod In Shrine Game Today

By CHRIS EDMONDS
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Hopalong Cassidy and 23 other college football stars from the East were one-touchdown favorites Friday to grind out a victory over the West Saturday in the 31st annual Shrine charity game at Kezar Stadium.

A sellout crowd of 61,000, despite forecasts of rain, is expected to watch last year's Rose Bowl coaches match with again—this time with the cream of last fall's college grid talent from all corners of the nation at their command.

Woody Hayes of Ohio State, who defeated Jess Hill's Southern California Trojans 20-7 at Pasadena a year ago, is in charge of the East's 24-man squad. Hayes' team, headed by the brilliant Cassidy, boasts a host of "name" talent. The West is coached by Hill who says his squad is "pink-cheeked and whiskerless but has a mighty hunger."

The squads go into the game with the West holding a 14-12 bulge, with 4 ties. The East eked out a 13-12 verdict a year ago.

The possibility of rain could cut down on the effectiveness of Cassidy and such other East running threats as Lenny Moore of Penn State, Bob Pascal of Duke and Don Schaefer of Notre Dame. The field is bare of grass between the 30-yard lines and footing is a cinch to be sloppy.

Hayes has emphasized his ground game during the nine-day practice session, but has a pair of good-passing quarterbacks in Gerry Reichow of Iowa and Em Lindbeck of Illinois. The East ends are small, as flankers go, although Boston University's 6-foot John Eredice was the nation's No. 2 receiver in 1955.

Hill has a wealth of capable receivers, each one as big or bigger than anyone the East can field, and two adequate passers in his own Jimmy Contratto and John Roach of Southern Methodist.

The West ends range from College of the Pacific's A. D. Williams and Baylor's Henry Greninger at 6-2 to USC's Leon Clarke and Texas' Menan Schriewer at 6-4.

The game will be televised nationally (NBC) and broadcast coast-to-coast (MBS). The kickoff is scheduled at 4 p.m. (CST).

Line Play To Decide Gator Bowl

By MERCER BAILEY
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—One of the reasons Auburn is favored by a touchdown to beat Vanderbilt in Saturday's Gator Bowl football game is a big line built around All-America tackle Frank D'Agostino.

Plainsmen partisans claim—and Auburn coaches agree—that D'Agostino, 6-1 and 233, and M. L. Brackett, 6-4 and 240, give Auburn the best brace of tackles on any one team in the nation. And the coaches rate Jimmy Phillips (205) and Jerry Elliott (187) as fine a pair of ends as any team can boast.

Auburn's starting line is big, averaging 214 pounds per man. And all the boys have good speed.

Concedes Little
Vanderbilt, however, concedes Auburn little—except a 15-pound per man weight advantage. Coach Art auepe is just as high on his ends, Tommy Harkins (190) and Joe Stephenson (195), and his guards, Larry Frank (195) and Larry Hayes (202), as Coach Ralph Jordan is on his ends and tackles.

Both Stephenson and Harkins are good receivers—they caught 11 passes each during the 1955 season and 14 each the year before—and no team made any long gains around them last season. Hayes and Frank are aggressive, rugged tacklers and fine blockers.

"Healthy Respect"
"From what we've seen in game films and from what we've been told, we've developed a healthy respect for those Vandy guards," said Jordan. "They must be terrific."

Auburn's line was the stingiest in the Southeastern Conference during the past season and rated fourth in the nation defensively, allowing an average of only 183.2 yards per game. Vandy was third in the SEC and 11th nationally on defense, surrendering an average of 200 yards a game.

In addition to his fine defensive play, D'Agostino was the lad who usually led the way when Auburn needed that important first-down yardage. The husky Philadelphian was snapped up by the professional Philadelphia Eagles in the second round of the pro draft this fall.

Defensive Threats
The big men on offense, in addition to the pass-catching ends, are halfbacks Bob James and Bobby Hoppe of Auburn and Charley Horton and Joe Seales of Vandy, plus fullbacks Joe Childress of the Plainsmen and the Commodores' Phil King and Don Hunt.

Childress missed Thursday's workout with a cold and slight fever but he returned to the field for Friday's brief howering up drill. Trainer Kenny Howard said he should be in top shape for the game.

A sell-out crowd of 36,000 is expected for the 1 p.m., CST, kickoff. The game will be televised by CBS.

Gresham To Host Little 6 Tourney

GRESHAM — Pairings for the Little Six Conference basketball tournament have been announced.

The tourney will be held Jan. 4, 5 and 6 at the Gresham High School gymnasium with both varsity and reserve teams in separate brackets for the three-day affair.

In the first team classification, Wednesday's action pits Ulysses against Shelby at 7:30 p.m., and Platte Center is slated to go against Gresham in the evening's finale, starting at 8:30 p.m.

Rising City and York St. Joseph have been awarded first round byes. In the Thursday semi-final winner of the Shelby-Ulysses contest and St. Joe makes its first tourney appearance against the Platte Center-Gresham victor.

The championship game will be played at 7 p.m., Friday evening.

Blue-Gray Go Weatherman Is Impartial

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—An impartial weatherman offered a Blue-Gray football menu Friday that both squads in Saturday's all-star game can claim to their liking.

But he forecast northerly winds of 15 to 20 miles per hour which could put increased importance on the flip of the coin. With both sides counting heavily on passes, the team defending the north goal would have the wind advantage in the opening quarter.

The Weather Bureau predicted cloudiness with a temperature of about 50.

On the passing of Wisconsin's Jim Haluska and Ed Albright rests the Yankees' best hope of breaking a Blue-Gray jinx and winning two games in a row. They defeated the Rebels last year 14-7.

Haluska ranked seventh in the nation this year in passing. One of his key targets Saturday will be Harold Burnine of Missouri, who was the country's leading pass receiver.

Head Coach Don Faurot of Missouri also has one of the nation's best defensive backs—Gary Glick of Colorado A. & M.

Although the Northern passing attack looks stronger on paper, the players have worked together only a week while the Rebels have two quarterbacks and two ends who teamed up all season.

Bob Hardy of Kentucky will have teammate Howard Schnellenberger to fire at and Bart Starr of Alabama will have his regular season receiver, Nick Germanos.

Discarding the one-plateau system of collegiate football, the All-Stars will operate Saturday under the free substitution rule.

The intersectional clash at 1:30 p.m. will be televised (NBC) and broadcast (Mutual) over nationwide networks.

Western Illinois Wins Tip-Off Title

OMAHA (AP)—Western Illinois State, the pre-tourney favorite, lived up to the rating Friday night and won the NAIA "Tip-Off" basketball tourney with an 83-72 victory over Gustavus Adolphus of St. Peter, Minn.

The Gussies were ahead once at 30-28 in the first half but Chuck Schramm started hitting and Western Illinois held a 42-34 lead at the half. In the second half the Gussies never got closer than three points to the Illinois club. That was at 60-57. But again Schramm went to work and pulled his club out in front 73-65.

Texas Southern, national Negro College champions, took third place, swamping East Texas State, last year's tourney champ, by a 73-55 score.

Creighton University took fifth place with a 72-67 win over Southeastern Oklahoma through a sizzling rally in the last six minutes. Southeastern was leading 59-55 when the Omaha club got hot with Bob Gibson and Dan Simon getting 13 points between them in quick order. Jim Spivey netted 36 for Southeastern, hitting 11 field goals.

North Carolina Teams In Dixie Classic Finals

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—North Carolina, behind by 16 points in the first half, staged a spectacular comeback to knock Duke from the unbeaten ranks, 74-64, Friday night and go into the championship finals of the Dixie Classic against North Carolina State which defeated Wake Forest, 70-58, Friday afternoon.

Cincinnati Wins Richmond Invitational

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Cincinnati clobbered host Richmond Friday night 89-60 and won the second annual Richmond Invitational Basketball Tournament.

The poised Bearcats, putting on a fabulous exhibition of shooting and brilliant under the boards, jumped out front seconds after the game began and never were headed.

By halftime Cincinnati had rolled up a 21-point advantage and spent most of the second half toying with the Spiders in cat-and-mouse fashion.

Cincinnati's big siege guns were Capt. Phil Wheeler and 6-8 Dave Plunkett, who peppered the basket with long, push shots and outside hook shots.

Dick Gaines, who led Seton Hall to an 80-55 triumph over William and Mary in a game for third place, was named the tourney's most valuable player by reporters.

Gaines, used sparingly throughout the contest, dropped in 17 points—13 of them in a span of seven minutes. Dick Savage of W&M also made 17. Seton Hall streaked ahead in the early minutes and quickly pulled away.

Virginia took consolation honors by beating Army 86-71 on fine shooting by Bob McCarty and Jerry Cooper while Virginia Tech won seventh place by trouncing Rhode Island 80-59.

SMU Grabs SW Crown

HOUSTON (AP)—Big Jim Krebs gave Southern Methodist a quick three-point lead in an overtime period Friday night as the Mustangs knocked Rice from the ranks of the undefeated to win the fifth annual Southwest Conference Basketball Tournament with a thrilling 76-73 victory.

An injured Jerry Mallett scored 17 points as Baylor defeated Texas Christian, 62-49, for fifth place and the consolation trophy.

Manuel Whitley earlier had scored 30 points as Arkansas won its first game of the season and seventh place in the tournament by defeating Texas A&M, 40-49.

Baylor limited TCU's Richard O'Neal, an all-tourney player last year, to 13 points. O'Neal hit only four of 15 field goal attempts and fouled out late in the game.

Whitley's 30 points ran his three-game tournament total to 72 as Arkansas broke its seven-game losing streak.

Irish Win Sugar Bowl

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Notre Dame won its second straight Sugar Bowl basketball title Friday night, defeating Utah 70-65 as forward John Smyth turned in a 27-point effort for the Irish.

Alabama took third place with a 77-75 victory over Marquette with Tide forward George Linn getting 35 points, high for the night's douleheader.

Fourth-ranked North Carolina posted its seventh consecutive win in handing Duke its first loss in eight starts. A capacity crowd of 12,400 in Reynolds Coliseum saw Duke build up a 16-point lead early in the first period. Then the rangy Tar Heels began to make their bid. They shaved the halftime margin to 27-35 and came back with a tremendous second-half attack.

North Carolina tied the score at 39-all after 4 1/2 minutes of the second half and then went ahead to stay on a goal by Pete Brennan.

Duke forward and key playmaker Ronnie Mayer suffered an injury to his chin early in the game. He was rushed to a hospital where the chin was stitched and he returned to action in the second half. Duke's Joe Belmont was top scorer for both teams with 24 points.

Wyoming snapped a five-game losing streak by edging Villanova, 69-68, tonight, and Minnesota defeated Oregon State, 64-60, this afternoon in consolation games.

Today, Wake Forest will meet Duke for third place. North Carolina will face N.C. State for the championship.

Wyoming, handicapped by the loss of three players on fouls in the closing minutes, had to hang on to get its one-point victory. Villanova's Jack Kelly missed a free throw with three seconds to go that would have tied the score. Villanova had fought back from an 11-point deficit midway in the second half.

Wyoming had a 33-36 lead at the half after a see-saw battle in which the lead changed hands four times and the score was tied six times.

Minnesota had to overcome a desperate rally to defeat Oregon State, and N. C. State had to battle hard the second half before finally pulling away from Wake Forest.

It was N. C. State's 10th consecutive win this season. The Wolfpack, sparked by the clutch shooting of forward Cliff Hafer, had a 49 per cent shooting accuracy from the floor, hitting on 24 of 49 attempts.

The Wolfpack built up a 17-point lead in the first half and then saw Wake Forest storm back with a determined second half spurt to pull within one point on two occasions. It was the shooting of Hafer, who had a total of 20 points, that sunk the Deacons.

GW Captures Winter Meet

By HERB ALTSCHULL
COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—George Washington, paced by Joe Holup's 31 points, bounced Michigan State from the undefeated ranks Friday night, 65-62, in winning the Winter Invitational Basketball Tournament.

Holup, 6-6 senior from Swoyersville, Pa., was almost a unanimous choice for most valuable player in the tournament as he equaled the floor scoring record and turned in a spectacular defensive game to help halt the Spartans, who had run up five straight without a defeat.

For 12th ranked GW, it was victory No. 9 in 10 starts.

Maryland, which lost to Michigan State, 95-75, last night, won consolation honors with an easy triumph over St. Francis of Loretto, Pa., 69-56. Bob Kessler of Maryland, who set the floor record of 31 last night, got 27 more tonight to lead the scorers.

Jim McClellan was high man for St. Francis with 14 points while Al Cunningham contributed 13. John Sandbower scored 11 and Bob O'Brien 10 for Maryland.

Hot Evansville Club Advances

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP)—A red-hot Evansville, Ind., team knocked Florida out of the ranks of the undefeated, 85-69, Friday night, and entered the finals of the All-American City Basketball Tournament.

Utah State took a last-minute 71-64 victory over College of the Pacific in a consolation semifinal.

In an earlier consolation bracket match, Pittsburgh overcame an early Hardin-Simmons lead and went on to a 74-67 victory.

The Utah State-College of the Pacific game was a see-saw affair for the first half, with each team alternately taking leads. At the half, College of the Pacific led, 33-31.

The Pittsburgh-Hardin-Simmons game saw Hardin-Simmons taking a 5-0 lead, then dropping behind after Pittsburgh tied the count at 15-15. Pittsburgh ran up a 38-23 margin late in the first half.

West Virginia Wins Tourney

M I A M I B E A C H, Fla. (AP)—West Virginia's accuracy at the free throw line gave the Mountaineers an 83-73 decision over the University of Miami in the finals of the first Orange Bowl Basketball Tournament before a crowd of 3,571 Friday night.

West Virginia clicked on 33 of 47 free throws while Miami could muster only 20 out of 35. The Hurricanes also were hurt by a sensational play of Lloyd Sharrar, center for West Virginia, who broke away from Miami's guards for 11 field goals, most of them layups. He added six of six free throws to take high scoring honors with 23 points.

Miami was in the lead only during the first eight minutes. After the Hurricanes went ahead 18-14 two free throws by Rod Huntley tied the score and then Don Vincent hit from the side to put the Mountaineers ahead to stay.

Columbia beat Tulane 64-61 with a drive in the last seven minutes of the game for third place in the tournament.

Although Tulane dominated much of the early play, it never got more than eight points ahead and the score was tied 13 times before two free throws by Bob Lehner sent Columbia ahead for good.

Yale trounced Santa Clara 86-67 in a lopsided game earlier in the consolation finals.

Santa Clara was in the fight for barely two minutes, taking a 4-0 lead and then gave up 15 consecutive points to the Blues with Johnny Lee hitting for three long shots.

Yale built up a 23-9 lead midway in the first half and coasted to a 43-29 edge at halftime.

It was the first runaway game of the tournament.

Florida State beat New York University for seventh place in the consolation 85-83.

Despite Injury, Referee Finishes

KANSAS CITY, (INS)—The "game must go on" so referee John Lloyd of Denver continued his work at the Big Seven Pre-Season basketball tournament, despite a broken left wrist.

Lloyd slipped during the second half of the Iowa State-Colorado contest, but shook off first aid and resumed his job as the 10,000 fans cheered him. After the game a physician taped the wrist and took the official to St. Joseph's Hospital where X-ray showed fracture of two bones.

Ted Atkinson will be after his fifth Hialeah jockey title when he rides during the 40-day meeting opening Jan. 17.

Record Residential Construction Peak Reached In Lincoln In 1955

The year 1955 racked up an all time record high construction total of $20,472,203 in Lincoln, which experts connected with the building field believe will not be surpassed in 1956.

Both city officials and builders are of the opinion that the 1,813 permits issued for residential units during 1955 will drop to well below 1,500 permits in the coming 12 months.

City Building Inspector Ed Vorhees said he expects the 1955 total costs to stand as a record "for some time." He estimated residential permits during 1956 at 1,000 to 1,200.

The builders appear only a little more optimistic. Both Ervin E. Peterson and Carl Witt placed the 1956 home figure at about 1,350 units.

All authorities agree on the reasons for the home building cut-back. They point to the fact that 400 homes are to be built by the government at the Lincoln Air Force Base over the next two years, 150 of them in 1956.

This, they said, represents homes that would otherwise be erected in Lincoln.

Secondly, the builders and officials feel the reactivation of the Air Base created an extra demand for housing which has now just about been met.

Mrs. Graham Wills Funds To 3 Groups

Three Lincoln organizations have been left residual bequests in the estate of Mrs. Kittie A. Graham under a will filed in Lancaster County Court.

Mrs. Graham, widow of A. D. Graham who was an Ames, Neb., farmer and sheep feeder, died Dec. 8, 1955, in Lincoln, where she had resided since her husband's death.

The estate's residue was left as 45 per cent to the Young Women's Christian Association to be used as a special fund for emergencies; 50 per cent to the Vine Congregational Church for the purchase of a new organ when a new church is built, and five per cent to the Lincoln Women's Club as a permanent endowment fund for upkeep and maintenance of the club's new building.

Specific bequests included $500 each to four nephews and nieces; $2,000 and $499.99 to two friends, Edith Ives Anderson of Los Angeles and Georgia Jameson Conney of Fremont, respectively, $1,500 each to a brother, George L. Towne of Lincoln and a sister-in-law, Jessie A. Graham, and $5,000 in trust for a nephew, George Everett Towne.

George L. Towne was named the estate's executor.

No estimate of the estate was immediately available, according to estate sources.

Politics Plea

CHICAGO (INS) — The Catholic Labor Alliance called on all political candidates to "take the tax cut out of politics."

The Catholic laymen's organization called proposed tax reductions "a dangerous delusion" and "election-year bait" in a statement issued by James F. Ganly, the group's president. Said Ganly: "Is a tax cut a wise move in 1956? Our answer is no."

Stock Prices Rise In Trading Flurry

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed out the year Friday with a swirl of trading at higher prices.

The tradition is for a smart rally to come between Christmas and New Year's.

Friday the market started higher and kept on climbing almost the entire session. It was under the best at the close.

The rise carried prices up $1 to around $5 with losses seldom showing larger than $1.

Virtually all major divisions took part in the rally.

All weeks the market has been plagued with selling for tax purposes. Those offerings helped to depress prices.

That eventually ran out Friday and prices were free to soar ahead. Just before the close there was a final rush of buying and selling.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.10 to 229.74, within a shade of a new record high.

The old record of $217.50 was established Sept. 23 and touched again Dec. 3 and 6.

The industrial component of the average hit a new high of $237.80 with a $2 gain. Raily were up 70 cents and utilities gained 30 cents.

Volume amounted to 2,820,000 shares compared with 2,190,000 shares traded Thursday.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange with trading at 1,430,000 shares, compared with 1,090,000 Thursday.

Net Income Of City Light, Water Tops $1 1/2 Million

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

A combined net operating income of $503,214.39 is reported for the City Water and Light Department in the annual audit of accounts for the fiscal year ended Aug. 31, 1955.

Prepared by Raymond H. Walker, the audit shows a Water Department net income, after deducting $161,243 for depreciation, of $342,071. The Commercial Light Department net income, after deducting $145,195 for depreciation, is shown at $196,876.

However, the net income on water sales, below last year's $459,783, does not represent money in the pocket of the department. The $342,071 has or will be spent largely for plant improvements and retirement of outstanding water bonds.

For both the 1953-54 and 1954-55 fiscal years, net water income, including depreciation, was $1,113,009. Out of those earnings has come payments toward plant additions of $1,285,021 and toward retirement of $256,000 in bonds by Oct. 1, 1955.

According to Utilities Business Manager John W. Kruse, the total money coming in to the Department and money being spent is running about even.

During the past two years, plant additions totaling $7,285,021 have been made. The sale of $6 million in water revenue bonds provided most of this money.

Paid in interest on the bonds during the last fiscal year was $137,158. This figure is up $37,274 from the preceding year because there was not a full year of interest to pay during the 1953-54 period.

Another factor accounting for the drop in net income in the Water Department this past fiscal year was an increase in operating expenses of $56,625 over the preceding year. Total operating expenses for the 1954-55 fiscal year were $476,068.

The Department's net income left a debt service coverage for the year of 1.97. Under the bond ordinance, the debt service requirement is 1.5.

A debt service requirement of 1.5 means that the net income, including depreciation, must be 1.5 times greater than the amount needed to pay bond interest and principal requirements for the year.

The audit showed a net book value on the Water Department as of Aug. 31, 1955 of $13,447,392.

The water plant during the year pumped a total of 7,415,880,500 gallons of water, an increase of 1,186,093,000 from the preceding year. However, sales of only 6,134,455,095 gallons are shown on the revenue side as pumpage in July and August of 1955 was not billed in time to appear in the 1954-55 receipts.

On the Light Department operation, the net income of $137,408, after depreciation, was up $77,430 from the preceding fiscal year.

Depreciation of the light plant for the 1954-55 fiscal year was shown at $145,195.

The audit showed total operating income for the Light Department of $1,081,337 for the year. During the year, a total of 46,156,640 kilowatt hours of electricity were purchased from the Nebraska Public Power System and another 22,534,535 kilowatt hours generated by the city's own plant.

In addition to sale of electricity, the audit shows other Department income of $60,116. This is composed mainly of a $53,661 refund to the city from Central Electric and Gas Co. for overcharges on gas used by the power plant for several previous years.

The Department paid in lieu of taxes during the year $50,075, representing 5 per cent of its total revenue.

An electric plant book value of $2,148,030 was reported in the audit.

French Cameraman Backs Edgar Faure Government Into An Embarrassing Spot

PARIS (Saturday) (AP)—Premier Edgar Faure's lame duck government admitted early today there appeared to be no evidence to sustain its charge that a newsreel cameraman bribed a French gendarme to shoot down an Algerian Moslem.

Premier Faure took cognizance that the picture-making incident was shaping up into what may be a decisive issue in the Jan. 2 national elections.

In a speech at Dole, in his home district near the Swiss border, he said the Aug. 20 outbreak in Algeria created sentiments of revolt, but nothing could excuse the subsequent shooting of the Algerian by the gendarme.

"A murderous gesture contrary to all regulations and all instructions," Faure called it.

Embarrassment

This was how the situation grew into a major embarrassment for Faure almost on the eve of the elections.

The government, through the Ministry of Interior, charged Thursday that Frenchman Georges Chassagne, 34, Algeria correspondent for Fox Movietone News, an American firm, bribed a French gendarme in order to get the picture.

Early Thursday Chassagne flew from Algiers to Paris, where he vigorously denied what he called "scandalous accusations against my company and myself."

An official of the Interior Ministry—which is under Faure since he is also acting as interior minister—said Chassagne had been charged with corrupting a civil servant.

No Charges

But Chassagne told newsmen he knew of no official charges placed against him.

"I never asked for any posing of pictures," Chassagne declared. Chassagne's statement put the government in the position of backing up its charges against him or retracting.

Reports from Algiers said the gendarme—his name was not disclosed—was being held at Constantine.

The picture strip, shown in movies throughout the world but not in France, was later published in U.S. magazines and newspapers. It showed the gendarme with his gun raised, the running man, his fall and the gendarme calmly reloading his rifle.

Express, the Paris newspaper of former Premier Pierre Mendes-France, picked up the pictures and printed them four months later, but GEORGES CHASSAGNE... denies he bribed gendarme.

Land Bank Loans Total $1 Billion

OMAHA (AP)—The Federal Land Bank of Omaha marked up the billion dollar loaned in 38-year history Friday.

The billion dollar total was reached with the closing of a loan to Dennis J. Donovan, Garretson, S. D., dairy farmer.

A bank spokesman said Friday that since its organization in 1917 the bank has made 167,700 long term farm mortgage loans to farmers and ranchers in Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota and Wyoming.

The land bank is owned entirely by its 43,000 farmer borrowers in the four-state area.

More than 47 million dollars was loaned in 1955, Bank President H. A. Viergutz said, and now has outstanding loans in excess of 240 million dollars.

By states the billion dollars in loans includes: Iowa $492,763,000; Nebraska $297,165,000; South Dakota $173,406,000; and Wyoming $37,675,000.

New Storm

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—A new storm brought heavy showers to northern California Friday but the rainfall was too light to bring new flood hazards.

Meanwhile, the tremendous rehabilitation program was under way in most of the sections stricken in last week's raging floods.

At evacuated Yuba City, it was expected the sewer system would be back in operation soon and emergency crews were working around the clock repairing a hole in the Feather River levee through which flood waters poured to inundate the city.

8 Workers Die

GELEEN, Netherlands (AP)—Eight workers were killed in the collapse of a 90-foot high bunker on the grounds of a state-owned coal mine. The accident occurred while workers were pouring concrete to make a floor atop a tower and the timbers collapsed.

Capitol Elevator Quickly Repaired

Only one elevator was operating to the tower of the Capitol for a short period Friday afternoon due to an automatic elevator for passengers slipping a clutch. Repairs were promptly made.

Engineers are expected next week to begin tests on the new elevator nearing completion. It is expected to be in operation by Jan. 15.

The elevator damaged recently by fire is being repaired and is expected to be returned to use next week.

Entertainer Dies

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—William M. McFadden, 43, who entertained throughout the country with his brother in night clubs, died. He had been hospitalized here for a liver ailment. McFadden began his career in vaudeville at the age of 8 with an act called the Harmony Kids.

Lincoln Families Gain For 2nd Straight Year

By DEL HARDING

The number of families in Lincoln increased during 1955 for the second straight year.

Figures compiled through Dec. 29 by the Lincoln Credit Bureau show that 2,552 families moved into Lincoln and 1,939 moved away, for a gain of 613 families. In 1954, 2,686 families moved into the city and 1,722 moved away for a gain of 964.

Thirty-seven per cent of the newcomers are servicemen, reports Max Meyer, general manager of the bureau. Outstate Nebraska contributed the most new Lincoln families with 1,112. Kansas was second with 166 and California third with 150.

The report showed families came from 45 other states, Alaska, Hawaii, Guam, Washington, D.C., and 20 foreign countries. The largest influx during the last 27 years was in 1942, when 3,290 families came to Lincoln. The net gain that year was 1,673.

Meyer said the fall is normally the "big" season for coming and leaving Lincoln. The bureau's figures are compiled with the cooperation of transfer companies, credit reports and from applications for public service, such as a telephone, water or gas meter.

Students, he said, are not counted unless they set up housekeeping.

Cathedral Rectory Bids To Be Opened

Bids for construction of the new St. Mary's Cathedral rectory will be opened at 2 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 10.

They will be received at the office of the temporary rectory at 415 So. 15th. The site of the new building will be on K Street, next to the Cathedral.

The two-story rectory will be of brick veneer.

On the first floor will be parish office space, secretary's office, four private conference rooms, the bishop's vesting room, dining room and kitchen, rooms for two housekeepers and laundry rooms.

The second floor will accommodate the pastor's suite, suites for two full-time assistants, a guest room, and rooms for two Chanery staff members.

The basement will contain mechanical equipment, storage room and a meeting or all-purpose room. A three-car garage will also be built.

Original plans for the structure were made by the former pastor, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. C. J. Riordan. The Very Rev. John Flynn, V. F., new pastor, will be advised by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. T. M. Kealy during construction. Architects are Clark and Enersen of Lincoln.

Trustees are E. J. Beauvillage and E. J. Newman and the advisory committee is John M. Alexander, Dr. T. F. McCarthy and R. J. Burke.

Lincoln Maintains Second In Nation Rating In Safety

Only one traffic death in 1955 gave Lincoln a mark of 0.2 deaths in traffic for each 10,000 registered vehicles, allowing the city to maintain its second place rating in national traffic safety circles.

For the first 11 months of the year, Lincoln qualified for second place among cities in the 50,000 to 100,000 bracket.

Leader in the division is Medford, Mass., with no deaths reported. Alexandria, Va., is third with 0.3 deaths for each 10,000 registered vehicles.

Wymore Sailor Cited By Commanding Officer

Lincoln Star Special

WYMORE, Neb. — A Wymore man, serving with the U.S. Navy, has been cited for excellence in performing his duty. Mrs. Rose Darnell of Wymore was notified that her son, Clifford, has received a citation for "excellent technical skill, leadership and ready will to overcome difficulties."

The letter was from the commanding officer of the U.S.S. O'Hare, aboard which Darnell is serving as an MMC.

SGT. YORK ASKS FOR A PENSION

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sgt. Alvin York, World War I hero, has applied for the pension that goes with his Medal of Honor.

The famous former soldier wrote the Army from his home at Wolf River, Tenn., recently, asking about the extra pension to which the Medal of Honor winners are entitled upon reaching the age of 65.

The Army has forwarded him the certificate to be submitted to the Veterans Administration for the pension payments.

Under present law, such payments amount to $10 a month. A bill was introduced in the last session of Congress, but failed to pass both houses, which would increase Medal of Honor pensions to $100.

Polio Shot Campaign Prodded

Over Half Vaccine Not Used—Scheele

WASHINGTON (AP)—Surgeon General Leonard Scheele Friday urged all states to push ahead with their antipolio campaigns, using up available supplies of Salk vaccine as rapidly as possible.

"This is the ideal time for vaccinations," he said in a statement. "The safety and effectiveness of the vaccine are now well established. Injections should be given as soon as vaccine is available in local areas in order to assure protection to as many children as possible before the next polio season starts."

The incidence of infantile paralysis is usually highest in midsummer.

A new U.S. Public Health Service report indicates that more than half the Salk vaccine shipped to private physicians and health departments has not been used yet.

Use of the vaccine within six months of production is recommended, although officials say longer storage does not affect safety.

On the whole, Scheele said, distribution and use of the vaccine appears to be proceeding in a reasonably satisfactory manner.

He added that some accumulation is necessary to prepare for mass inoculation programs and build up a reserve for second shots. New York and California, reported to be holding almost one fourth of the unused vaccine, are both getting ready for mass vaccination programs.

In a report based on estimates from 36 state and territorial health officers, the Health Service said about 45 per cent of the vaccine shipped out under the voluntary control program prior to Nov. 30 had been used by that date.
